

Media Contact:
Theresa Dreike
WunderMarx|PR for ExpensAble
P 714-862-1112
theresa.dreike@wundermarx.com

ExpensAble.com puts expense management at your fingertips

Redesigned Web site reflects company's easy-to-use expense management automation software

IRVINE, Calif., Oct. 21, 2008 – ExpensAble, a global leader in expense management automation, today relaunched its Web site, www.ExpensAble.com giving users simple navigation to find information fast. The redesigned ExpensAble.com streamlines content and navigation so visitors can easily find the ExpensAble solution to best fit their company's needs.

“Our new Web site reflects the simplicity of our product design and navigation,” said John Tangredi, president and chief executive officer, ExpensAble. “It’s important that our Web site reflect the ease of use of our software. Our clients enjoy using our products because they are simple to understand while providing a robust solution to the problem of managing expenses.”

iAds for Quick Product Decision Making

Integrated into the site design are iAds made by Innovate Ads. These iAds use speech to guide visitors through the decision-making process by asking questions about their needs. For example, you might need the ExpensAble expense management automation software for your entire company. In which case, the iAd avatar will direct you to choose ExpensAble Enterprise to learn more. Also, you can click the iAd to go directly to schedule a demo with an ExpensAble representative.

ExpensAble's Software

ExpensAble software delivers a total solution with an adaptive Workflow Process Engine, developed to move expense reports through the approval process digitally. Using the Workflow Process Engine, companies are able to drive compliance with stated T&E expense rules directly in the reporting mechanism. By harnessing the power of the Internet, entire enterprises can use the ExpensAble platform for paperless expense reporting by sending reports directly to the approver. In addition, the ExpensAble enterprise solution offers flexible receipt imaging features to eliminate the heavy cost of express shipping receipts and reports. The ExpensAble software interfaces directly with accounting systems, helping to streamline the reimbursement process while reducing errors, manual keying of data and even processing time for expense reporting.

ExpensAble's expense management automation software is available now. To set up a demo or to make a purchase, call 1-888-536-6200 or e-mail sales@expensable.com.

About ExpensAble

ExpensAble is a global leader in expense management automation offering a variety of solutions to suit your business as it grows. With more than 10 years of experience and innovation in expense management automation, ExpensAble has what it takes to continuously evolve its products to meet the changing needs of a digital economy. The fully automated Web-based solution utilizes industry best practices to save companies time and labor costs, minimize overpayments and reduce the number of touches for each expense report. ExpensAble provides its expense management solution to more than 200,000 end users in over 60 countries. To learn more, visit www.expensable.com.

###